

MEDIA TECHNICIAN (M/F/D)

The Product Management is responsible for product selection, development and strategy. You are in close contact with the development and marketing teams. At best, you have a bachelors degree and are willing to constantly expand your knowledge and take on new innovative tasks. Professional experience is of course always welcome, but not a must. In addition to analytical thinking skills, a high affinity for technology and the willingness to further educate yourself in the area of video technology and AVoIP are important. Apply for a job with us and join one of our teams!
